

JOSEPH NIMMO DEAD

Noted Specialist Stricken in F Street Home.

HAD BEEN ILL ABOUT A WEEK

Suffered Stroke of Paralysis, from Which Physicians Were Unable to Resuscitate Him—Chief of Division of Internal Commerce Ten Years. Compiled Valuable Data.

Joseph Nimmo, Jr., LL. D., one of the oldest residents of the District of Columbia, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his residence, 131 F street, northwest, after an illness of one week.

He was seventy-nine years old, but up to his last illness was a remarkably robust man for his age. A week ago he was stricken with paralysis. Drs. G. T. Sowers and Henry Dixon, family physicians, were called, and from the first gave little hope for the recovery of the patient.

Dr. Nimmo was a native of New York, and was educated in that State, completing his studies at the New York University. He was a civil engineer by profession, and followed that vocation for the first thirteen years of his business life.

A Student of Law. Later he studied law and became a specialist of political economy and constitutional law, bringing his legal knowledge to bear upon his work as a specialist in the national government service. For years he was connected with the government as a statistician and economist.

Ten years of this service was devoted to valuable work as the chief of the division of internal commerce and as chief of the Bureau of Statistics, during which latter period he compiled and wrote a valuable and authoritative series of official reports on the commercial and transportation interests of the United States, treating in detail the railroads, river, lake, and coast transportation facilities of the country. This work is one of the most valuable of the contributions to statistical information in the government archives.

He was a man of scholarly attainments, literary in his tastes, and familiar with the best authors in history, science, fiction, poetry, political economy, international and constitutional law, and the latest magazines and other literature of the day.

An Accepted Authority. He was a writer of ability, and as a statistician and economist was an accepted authority. In 1892 his alma mater, the New York University, honored him with the degree of LL. D. Dr. Nimmo lived in this city for more than fifty years.

While arrangements have not been completed, it was announced at the residence last night that the funeral would be held at the home to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment will take place at Huntington, Long Island, N. Y.

WILL PRINT NEW RULES.

Chief Wagner Transmits Them to the Printer.

Chief Wagner, of the District fire department, announced yesterday that the new rules and regulations for the department recently approved by the Commissioners had been compiled and transmitted to the printer for publication in book form.

The books are expected to reach fire headquarters a week prior to July 1, as to be in the hands of the officers and members of the department in time for them to familiarize themselves with the rules before they are put into operation. The regulations are the result of careful study of the late Chief Bell and Chief Wagner, and contain all the best features of the fire departments of the larger cities, where they have been tested and found efficient.

The clerical force is engaged in compiling a new "running book," which will be placed in the hands of the printer July 1, and will be ready for delivery fifteen days later. This book contains all the fire alarm boxes and shows at a glance what engines and trucks respond to certain alarms.

A feature entirely new is that the general alarm will be reduced from seven calls to six. As a matter of public safety, Chief Wagner has issued an order which provides for the detaching of thirteen uniformed men and the establishment of a fire station at Benning during the three days and nights of the Elks' jubilee, commencing to-day.

CHILD LABOR REPORT FILED.

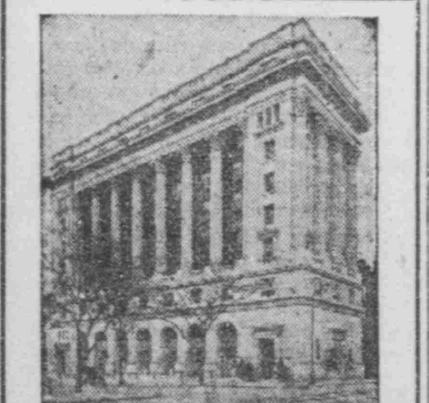

Four Complaints Made and Adjusted Since May 15.

Charles C. Estes and R. H. Sanders, members of the Metropolitan police department, acting as Child Labor Law inspectors, yesterday filed with the Commissioners, through Commissioner Macfarland, directly in charge of the enforcement of this law, their report of the operations of that law for the last half of May and the first half of June.

The report shows: Four complaints have been received, investigated, and adjusted to the provisions of the law. To newboys and street vendors, 1,488 permits and badges have been issued. The records show a total of 272 business places employing 409 children under the age of sixteen.

The number above stated shows a decrease of two employers and eighteen employees since the last report. Thirty-two business places have discontinued child labor during the month just past.

Six cases have been reported and prosecuted. Eight permits have been issued for sixteen children to engage in theatrical performances.

ASKS BRECKONS' REMOVAL.

Rev. Crafts Protests Against Hawaiian District Attorney.

Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts, representative in Washington of the International Reform Bureau, yesterday addressed another letter to President Taft protesting against the continuance in office of R. W. Breckons, United States district attorney for Hawaii.

Accompanying the letter were two exhibits—one of them a copy of an alleged advertisement of Mr. Breckons soliciting legal business from Chinese residents of Honolulu, and the other an affidavit of Rev. E. W. Thwing, Chinese secretary of the reform bureau, in which is cited instances of alleged misconduct that Mr. Thwing believes unite Mr. Breckons to discharge the duties of a legal officer of Hawaii.

The burden of the complaint of the reform bureau against Mr. Breckons is that in his private practice he has repeatedly represented persons whose cases brought him in conflict with his duties as a legal officer of the government.

LOSE THEIR ANNUAL LEAVES

Corporation Counsel Decides Against 250 Per Diem Employees.

Ruling Will Be Approved by the Commissioners and Become Effective July 1.

Corporation Counsel Thomas has decided that the 250 per diem employees on the rolls of the District government are not entitled to annual leave of absence, with pay or pay for legal holidays. This ruling of counsel will be approved by the Commissioners and go into effect July 1.

The Commissioners made an effort to have Congress pass a law similar to that operative for per diem employees of the national government, but it was defeated. The Commissioners will again recommend such a law in their estimates to be presented to Congress next winter.

Under the District appropriation of 1898 the Commissioners were authorized to grant annual leave of absence not exceeding thirty days to per diem employees. In 1906 Congress, after a prolonged discussion of this matter, which had been questioned by Auditor Tweedale, repealed the law granting per diem employees leave by abolishing per diem positions filled by regular employees whose service was continuous, making their positions permanent, with an annual compensation.

The corporation counsel holds that creating regular positions for those per diem employees with an annual compensation that the provision of law granting this leave of absence is ineffectual, especially in view of the provision of the District of Columbia act of March 3, 1906, which says that no civil officer or other employee should, after June 30, 1906, be paid from any appropriation for contingent expenses.

While arrangements have not been completed, it was announced at the residence last night that the funeral would be held at the home to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment will take place at Huntington, Long Island, N. Y.

WILL TEST NEW LAW.

Automobile Owners Say Legislation Shows Discrimination.

When the new automobile law, assessing the seating capacity of the cars, is enforced, July 1, the Washington Auto Club will probably test the legislation in the courts.

It was adopted by Congress at the last session, and provides that an annual wheel tax shall be imposed on all motor vehicles, those having seats for two persons shall be taxed $3, and those seating more than two shall be taxed $5 for each additional seat.

Automobiles say this law reveals strong prejudice and discrimination against them. Newton L. Collamer, a member of the Washington Auto Club, points out that horse-driven vehicles are not subject to the same regulations.

WANT STREETS PAVED.

Petworth Citizens' Association Asks Commissioners for Appropriation.

The Petworth Citizens' Association, through its secretary, C. L. Gable, has asked the Commissioners to include in their estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, an appropriation for the macadamizing of Varnum street between Eighth street and Georgia avenue, and Uppur street, between Eighth street and Georgia avenue.

The association points out that Varnum street is the most important thoroughfare in that locality 100 per cent of the lots on either side of the street being built up. Uppur street, leading to the entrance of the National Soldiers' Home, and especially at the Soldiers' Home Junction, is said to be in bad condition.

The Commissioners in their last estimates asked Congress to provide for the improvement to Varnum street, but the item was cut out.

PYTHIANS HONOR DEAD.

Knights Hold Memorial Exercises in Ninth Street Temple.

Services for members who have died in the last year were held last night by the Knights of Pythias as Pythian Temple.

It was an impressive service. After each name was announced taps were sounded. When the last name was announced a choir on the stage sang hymns.

Grand Chancellor Kahler presided. He reviewed the history of the Knights of Pythias in this country.

The death list includes: past grand chancellors, William H. Hines, John W. Hardell, past chancellors, M. Laverne, J. W. Humphries, Henry Kraus, J. W. Speaks, Ambrose D. Bagby; knights, George W. Stein, J. J. Donohue, H. W. Robinson, Morris F. Doe, W. H. Scrivener, V. B. Gousha, Irving Deakins, Philip Smith, James Simpson, Frederic Innes, William Higgins, Basil M. Beall.

Preaches the Sermon.

Rev. Edward L. Buckley, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Church, will preach the sermon at the novena in the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

THIRD VOTE PERIOD

WILL BEGIN TO-DAY

The Hardest Struggle in the History of The Contest Is Now On.

END LESS THAN THREE WEEKS

In Order to Make Sure of Your Prize You Must Keep Going All the Time.

The third, and last, voting period of The Washington Herald contest is now on, and, as is usual in affairs of this kind, the hardest struggle will come just before the end. No time should be lost by contestants between now and July 3, as the time is so valuable that it is little short of a crime to waste it. By doing so you may lose your prize, and an opportunity such as this does not present itself every day, nor every year.

This contest will long be remembered by every contestant who has taken an active part in it, and none will be able to say truthfully that he or she was not treated with absolute fairness in the very strictest sense of the word. There will be no dissatisfaction after the close if we can prevent it, and we believe that we can. Everything has been done to encourage you to work, knowing, as we do, that you can not win otherwise, and at the close of the contest, on July 3, will come your reward for having worked so hard while the opportunity has been yours.

It does not matter whether you are working for the first grand prize or the fourth district prize, you must not allow the decrease in the vote scale cause you to let up in your work. As a matter of fact, you must work all the harder during this period—the decrease in the vote scale makes this necessary. It does not matter how many votes you may have now, you cannot be too sure of winning your prize. You have no way of knowing or finding out how many votes your competitors have, and for this reason it behooves you to keep right on working as long as the contest lasts, so as to avoid all possibility of being disappointed in the end.

Less than three weeks from now it will all be over and your prize will be yours, provided, of course, you do not let some more energetic competitor get ahead of you and take your choice of the prizes. This is something you cannot be too careful about, and it is very necessary that you keep your wits very open at all times, and that you keep hustling early and late.

You will notice in next Thursday's list that a large number of votes have been polled since the last list. This is evidence of an awakening among the contestants, and from now on until the close of the contest it will be a struggle for supremacy.

Try now as never before to be one of the leaders. It can be done with hard work, provided there is enough of it, and we are glad to see your name at the top of the list.

G. A. R. WOMEN GIVE FESTIVAL.

Guests Witness Fancy Drill and Musical Programme.

A summer festival was given last night by the women of Phil Sheridan Post, No. 12, of the Grand Army of the Republic, at Grand Army Hall.

An excellent programme was prepared by Mrs. Agnes I. Keeler, chairman of the entertainment committee, consisting of the following numbers: Vocal selections, Mrs. Arthur G. Dunn and Miss Imogene Newslands; piano solo, Master Chester Weaver; piano duo, Misses Agnes Mawson and Nellie Daly. Following this, a fancy flag drill was presented. Another pleasing feature was the work of the Clark brothers, whistlers and entertainers, who gave a series of clever imitations.

Refreshments were on sale at the tables presided over by Mrs. B. F. Graham, Mrs. Marion Parker, L. A. Oldroyd, Mrs. Sarah Beach, and Mrs. Mary B. Fouth.

MAY KIDNAP EARLY.

Rumors at the District Building Concerning the Leper.

The possibility of John P. Early, the Washington leper, being kidnapped from his isolated home, on the banks of the Anacostia River, was discussed in the corridors and offices of the Municipal Building yesterday afternoon.

A rumor had reached the health department that such a plan was under contemplation. The origin of the rumor was not traced. Nevertheless, it was persistent.

Late last night Dr. Woodward said he was of the opinion that such an undertaking, while extremely hazardous, was not among the improbabilities. He announced that the health authorities had taken every precaution to keep Early isolated, and that means had been put in force to prevent any one from entering the camp of Early and spiriting him away from the jurisdiction of the District authorities. He pointed out that since the recent experience of the health office with the unauthorized entrance of Dr. Buckley into Early's house, precautions had been taken to prevent a recurrence of the intrusion.

W. L. Post Resigns.

Announcement was made yesterday of the resignation of William L. Post, Superintendent of Documents, of the Government Printing Office. His resignation was sent to the Public Printer, taking effect at the expiration of his leave of absence, which begins July 15, and will end about the middle of August. Mr. Post will make an extended European trip, and after his return will engage in private business. Employees of the documents division expressed regret at Mr. Post's retirement after a career of seventeen years.

Wrong Address Given.

In the announcement of the case of Walter Davis, a druggist, who forfeited $100 collateral in Police Court, in which he was charged with permitting gambling on his premises, the place of Davis' residence should have been given as 1135 Ninth street northwest.
